Welcome to the Common Assessment for the OALCF Goal Paths Resource Package; a resource developed for practitioners working with adult learners in the Ontario Literacy and Basic Skills Program.

Background

With the introduction of the Ontario Adult Literacy Curriculum Framework in 2011, Literacy and Basic Skills agencies across Ontario are implementing a competency based approach to literacy programming. In order for LBS agencies to efficiently and effectively serve learners and fully transition into the OALCF, they need to have a common assessment strategy approach and tools to ensure data integrity and accurate assessment results that support appropriate learner referrals.

This resource continues the work that was initiated by the Literacy Northwest Common Assessment Working Group in the winter of 2012. The group identified the need for one resource that incorporates initial, ongoing and exit assessment tools and practices for each goal path.

Further research, such as the survey evaluation results for the “Collective List of Assessment Tools”, notes that while the tools resource is very useful, it’s not comprehensive enough to inform the development of an assessment strategy or to complete a full OALCF assessment. Survey respondents also noted that many practitioners did not have the time to review and/or research all of the identified tools. The “OALCF Implementation Strategy”, developed by CESBA also noted that practitioners indicated concern about how to select content and identify a starting point for instruction.

More recently, an LBS Practitioner survey conducted this fall indicates that while agencies are using the tools and resources provided by the Ministry there remains a need for goal path specific, task based assessment activities that are aligned to the new framework for initial, ongoing and exit assessment. The survey results also reflect some of the same needs identified by practitioners in previous feedback such as:

- Concern about practitioner time to research and develop task based activities
- Need for assessments that are directly related to the learner’s goal path
- Need for tools that help to track, analyze assessment results
- Need for tools that inform training plan development and activities
- Need for a common approach to assessment within the OALCF and CaMS reporting
- Need for resources that can be used for on-going practitioner training, knowledge retention and succession planning

The survey results also indicated that a high percentage of the respondents are using CABS and the OALCF Implementation Strategy Resources for Initial Assessment, and approximately half identified they have developed their own tools. Respondents noted that these tools are user friendly and include performance descriptors that are aligned to the new framework, and results are easy to understand and can quickly be incorporated into learning.

About the Resource:

The Common Assessment for the OALCF Goal Paths Resource Package has been developed to address practitioners concerns and build upon and compliment the above noted resources. It is a culmination of sample tasks and activities that are adapted from the “Selected Assessment Tools”, provided by MTCU and other tools that are currently being used in the literacy field across Ontario.

The resource package will be available in English and French, in print and/or on-line. The resource is designed to be accessed/used by practitioners, in its entirety (all five goal paths), or for specific goal paths, and/or just the assessment activities or tracking/support tools. Each tool or resource has value in itself and can be easily incorporated into any current assessment strategy.

A note about initial skills assessment:

Current practices indicate that most agencies use an initial skills-based assessment prior to beginning task-based assessments. This practice provides the practitioner with a starting point for choosing task-based assessment activities and helps determine initial competencies and task groups to focus on. This approach provides an indication of what skills a learner has.

Using a task-based approach a learner is assessed at intake, first using a range of task-based assessment tools and activities, such as demonstrations or activities, and secondly, where necessary, skill-based activities that may involve math, reading comprehension and a writing sample. Task-based initial assessment provides an understanding of the learner’s ability to use their existing literacy skills and competencies at particular levels of task complexity. This approach provides an indication of what a learner can do with the skills they have.

Striking a balance between task-based and skill-based assessment will vary depending upon learners. For example, if the learner’s goal path is related to Secondary School there will be a need for skills development in order for them to transition successfully into an academic learning environment. On the other hand, a learner with a goal path related to Employment will most likely spend more time on task development. For more information on task based programming and assessment please click on the link at the bottom of this page.

This resource package is not meant to replace any current assessment processes or procedures but to compliment current practices and resources that service providers are already using. The recent practitioner survey, mentioned earlier, indicated that most agencies are already using the sample resources for initial skills-based assessment from the OALCF Implementation Resource. Therefore, we have not included a sample in this resource package. To access those resources please click the link below:

How is this resource organized?

The Common Assessment for the OALCF Goal Paths Resource Package contains six sections:

Section 1:

Introduction and Description

Support Tools for Practitioners:

- a) Sample OALCF Common Assessment Strategy
- b) Task-Based Assessment, Milestone and Culminating Task Tracking Sheet
- c) Blank task template

Sections 2 – Section 6 contain the five goal path resources, each goal path includes

- a) Index of Activities
- b) Key Development Skills Check List
- c) Assessment activities for each competency, level and task group
- d) Answer Guide
- e) Resource List

Section 1: Contains the introduction and a description of the resource package. It also contains tools that can be used for a common assessment strategy, task tracking and task development.

1. The Common Assessment Strategy is a sample of a written formalized assessment strategy. The first section outlines what tools are used, when they should be used, and for what purpose. Agencies can use this tool to build upon their current assessment practices to demonstrate capacity to select and use appropriate task-based activities. The second section outlines how to use assessment results and data reports to inform decisions regarding goal paths, assessment and provides a common approach to reporting.
2. Task Based Assessment, Milestone and Culminating Task Tracking Sheet is a tool that practitioners can use to track and easily identify what assessment has been done and what needs to be completed. The tracking sheet can be used as documentation and a quick visual reference to show/share with your learner and/or to show progress during a monitoring visit.
3. Sample Task Template: A template that practitioners can use to develop their own assessment activities. Each goal path resource is designed so that practitioners can add, change or revise the assessment activities to best suit their learners or programming needs.

Sections 2 - Section 6: Contain the individual goal path resources that each contain five parts:

Part 1: Index of Activities: A list of all the assessment activities and other task groups for that goal path. Practitioners can quickly review the activity index to see what competency and tasks groups are being assessed.

Part 2: Key Development Skills List: A table consisting of the key development skills required to successfully transition and demonstrate competency to transition in that goal path. (Taken from MTCU Goal Path Descriptor, link is below). Each indicator has been aligned to the OALCF. These lists are designed so that practitioners can check off initial assessment results and then see what competencies need to be worked on. A practitioner can use this as a starting point to choose learning plan activities and training. This tool can easily be transferred into the learner's file as a tracking tool.

Part 3: Assessment Activities and Tasks: Assessment activities for each of the six competencies, task groups and levels.

i) Activity Cover Page: is organized by Competency, task group and level and consists of:

- a) Activity title and task group
- b) Performance Descriptors - taken from the OALCF framework and are characteristics of learners performance and task complexity, identifies what constitutes successful task performance
- c) A sample of the embedded skills/knowledge required to complete the task
- d) Additional sample tasks (1-3) with links, and/or where the resource can be found
- e) Practitioner's Notes: Space provided for quick observation or notes
- f) Successful Completion: Space provided to easily mark if the learner was successful
- g) Acknowledgment Box

Practitioners can use this cover page to easily identify learner's performance by checking off the performance descriptors and skills. Learners are able to demonstrate readiness for a milestone task and practitioners can provide evidence of task-based assessment and activities in their files.

ii) Activity Sheet(s): Most activities have a hard copy sample that practitioners can print or copy. Where there are no sample tasks we have included links where assessment pieces can quickly be downloaded for use, or the activity itself may be online. Practitioners can choose which activity is most suitable for their learners, and their learning style preference.

Part 4: Answer Sheets: Answers for each of the assessment activities.

Part 5: Resource List: Resources used for that goal path.

How does this resource align with the OALCF?

In 2012-2013 MTCU provided LBS agencies with an OALCF Implementation guide; a self-assessment tool, that describes the indicators that agencies are required to have in place to successfully transition into the new framework. The “fully in place” indicator, Section 5, Appendix B: Task-Based Assessment states: “To be fully in place an”:

“Agency has an assessment strategy to describe what tools are used for what purpose (initial, ongoing, exit assessment), for which transition path and under what circumstances the assessment is conducted and there is a process used for assessment results to inform overall agency targets”

Furthermore, the MTCU Practitioner Guide to Task-Based Programming outlines a goal-directed assessment process and provides LBS agencies with an evaluation tool that compares a task-based approach to a skills-based approach. We can use this tool to guide us to better understand and work within the new framework.

This resource aligns with both of the above indicators by providing literacy practitioners with:

- a consistent approach to assessment practices through the use of a common strategy
- task-based assessment tools that are specific to the learner’s goal path
- a variety of resources that are authentic and relevant to the learner’s goal path
- a variety of resources/activities that are aligned to the OALCF Competencies
- a task-based approach to program assessment and programming
- support tools that are user-friendly and provide documentation of task-based assessment

Throughout the Common Assessment for the OALCF Goal Paths Resource Package you will notice 5 icons, tiny creatures in various stages of flight and transition captured on the Activity Cover Page. Each one symbolizes the various characteristics needed for renewal, success, transition, transformation and strength, much like the characteristics our learners need to transition successfully in their chosen goal path. These tiny creatures serve as a reminder that even the most unassuming being can achieve the most amazing results and they each represent one of the five possible goal paths that you and your learner are on!

| Independence Goal Path     | Lady Bug       | Believe it or not, this tiny little beetle is found almost every climate across the world. To many cultures the lady bug represents a sign of luck and prosperity, and is tied to the energies of renewal and regeneration, life and hope.  |
| Employment Goal Path       | Worker Bee     | Did you know that bees are the only insect in the world that make food humans can eat? They play a significant role in the pollination of crops and the ecology. Approximately, 70% of our crops, to some degree are pollinated by bees. In many cultures the bee represents; industry, diligence, cooperation and productive hard work.  |
| Secondary School Goal Path | Grasshopper  | A grasshopper can only jump forward ...not backwards ... or sideways. Many believe that when a grasshopper appears before you it is connected to change. It is reaffirming you that it's time for you to make your move and forge ahead.  |
| Post-Secondary Goal Path   | Butterfly    | Some cultures believe that if a butterfly lands on you, it represents change, rebirth, a new life or a new creation. The butterfly has the ability to change from a crawling caterpillar to a flying adult. We almost forget the struggle the butterfly has gone through because its transition is almost magical when it happens.  |
| Apprenticeship Goal Path   | Ant          | Despite their tiny size these little insects are immensely strong and represent great strength of will and accomplishment. This insect above all others, is progressive, and, proactive, always adapting to the environment and never letting little things or even natural disasters get in the way of progress. It's their unsinkable nature that reminds us to keep moving forward for progress. |
